

How Bundy Was Arrested—A Fluke

BY SOLVEIG TORVIK

P-J Staff

SALT LAKE CITY — The Utah State Highway patrolman who arrested Theodore R. Bundy for possession of burglary tools and trying to evade an officer on Aug. 16 said yesterday he had not heard of Bundy before that night.

Sgt. Bob Hayward, who apprehended Bundy, a former Tacoma resident, at 3 a.m. in a Salt Lake City suburb 15 miles from home, dressed in a black turtleneck shirt, Levis and sneakers, said the arrest came about by accident.

Hayward is the brother of the man now in charge of the Salt Lake County sheriff's investigation of the Bundy case, Capt. N. D. (Pete) Hayward.

The trooper said he could not recall his brother, Pete, ever mentioning Bundy's name before the arrest.

As the trooper described the arrest, he was sitting in his unmarked car on duty in front of his own house just before his shift was to end when a Volkswagen which he did not recognize drove by him.

Hayward, who said he always patrols his own neighborhood the last few minutes of his shift, said he ignored the Volkswagen; but about ten minutes later he responded to a call which took him around a corner where he found the Volkswagen parked.

"He wasn't 200 yards from my house," Hayward said, and as he drove up beside the car, he directed his searchlight on it.

"He took off like a shot with no lights on and the chase was on," Hayward said. "If he had sat in that Volkswagen,

I probably would have driven right past him," he said.

Bundy drove through two stop signs, one after Hayward had turned on his red light. Finally, Bundy pulled into a service station and stopped, Hayward said.

When the trooper asked him why he had tried to flee, Bundy replied that he was frightened and did not know who the trooper was, Hayward related.

When Hayward asked Bundy what he was doing in the neighborhood at that hour, Bundy answered that he had been,

New Report on Bundy

from this area in 1974, prior to the Lake Sammamish incidents. Remains of four of them, in addition to those of Ms. Ott and Ms. Naslund, have been found in eastern King County.

Neil Miller, administrative officer of the State Department of Emergency Services, where Bundy worked the summer of 1974, said yesterday Bundy was absent from work on Thursday and Friday, July 11 and 12, and Monday and Tuesday, July 15 and 16.

Ms. Ott left the park around noon that July 14 Sunday, wheeling her yellow bike along as she talked with "Ted." The bike never has been found.

Ms. Naslund vanished from the park four hours later. Witnesses put "Ted" back in the park during the afternoon, again asking women to help with his sailboat.

Asked why Bundy was off his state job on the above dates, Miller said: "He phoned in sick."

Miller said records didn't indicate the nature of the illness and that Bundy was back on the job Wednesday, July 17. He took sick leave July 11, but was off without pay the other three days because he didn't have enough accrued sick leave, Miller explained.

Miller remembered that at one time during the summer, Bundy "had a real bad cold," but couldn't say if it was during mid-July.

Asked if she knew the nature of her son's illness in mid-July, his mother, Mrs. John Bundy, Tacoma, said:

"I know exactly where he is at that time. — but you're not the one I will tell it to."

She said she had no comment for the press on the absences.

Bundy worked in the department from May 23 through Aug. 28, 1974, leaving to enroll in law school at the University of Utah. He was a second-year law student when arrested Oct. 2 in Salt Lake City.

The young woman who escaped the would-be abductor in Murray Nov. 8, 1974, has identified Bundy as her assailant.

Asked about other absences, Miller said Bundy also was out sick on June 17, June 24 and July 1, trict as she was walking one block between a fraternity house and her sorority house.

As noted, Ms. Ott and Ms. Naslund — vanished from Lake Sammamish State Park July 14.

Bundy maintained a room in a home at 4143-12th Ave. NE from about 1970 through mid-August of 1974, when he left for Utah.

Ms. Healy's rooming house was 14 blocks to the north, also on 12th Avenue NE. The alley from which Ms. Hawkins vanished is six blocks from Bundy's rooming house.

Bundy was enrolled in night law school at the University of Puget Sound when Ms. Manson disappeared from the Olympia college campus.

Bundy dropped out of UPS law school April 10, 1974. Two Central Washington State College coeds escaped a "Ted"-like person on that campus, the first on April 14, the second on April 17. Ms. Rancourt disappeared April 17.

When Ms. Parks vanished from the OSU campus area, Bundy had not yet begun work for the State Department of Emergency Services. He started there May 23.

He was employed on the state job during the time that Ms. Ball, Ms. Hawkins and Ms. Ott and Mrs. Naslund disappeared.

Ms. Freida Roger, owner of the home at 4143-12th Ave. NE, here Bundy kept a room, said he would be in and out, not staying there all the time. Sometimes he stayed at his folks' home in Tacoma, Ms. Roger said.

Bundy withdraws bid having his bail reduced

WESTERN SUN 10-4-75

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A lawyer for a 28-year-old law student, charged in the abduction of a teen-aged girl here last year, Friday withdrew an earlier request for court reduction of the defendant's $100,000 bail.

The withdrawal left Theodore Robert Bundy in the Salt Lake City County Jail where he was held on charges of aggravated kidnaping and attempted criminal homicide in connection with the abduction of Carol DaRonch, 18, last Nov. 8 at a suburban shopping mall.

Authorities have said the case has links with the disappearance the same night of another teen-age girl, who has never been seen since.

Attorney John D. O'Connell, had brought Bundy, a native of Washington state and wellknown political party worker, before City Court Judge Floyd H. Goways Friday morning for a hearing on a bail reduction request.

But when the time came, O'Connell withdrew his request without explanation to the judge.

Contacted later, O'Connell said there were two principal reasons for his action.

"First, by Monday or Tuesday, I'll have better information for the judge than my sayso, and second, I will know more that I am shooting for—what kind of bail he (Bundy) can come up with practically.

"Bundy has lots of friends in the Seattle area who are raising money for him," O'Connell said.

"Also, the press was swarming around, got into the tunnel between the courtroom and jail. I hope later the press will have cooled off," the lawyer said.

Capt. N.D. "Pete" Hayward, chief of detectives for the Salt Lake County sheriff's office, said there were "absolutely no new developments" Friday in the case against Bundy, whose long, wavy hair had a jailhouse clipping before his court appearance.

Hayward said officers did not question Bundy further "because his attorney must be present and it could not be arranged."

Seattle Police Chief Robert Hanson announced Friday the formation of a special task force to develop a personality profile of Bundy.

Capt. Nick Mackie of the King County Police Department said earlier Bundy, who has lived in Tacoma, Seattle and Olympia, had not been considered an active suspect in the 1974 series of "Ted" slayings in the Pacific Northwest although he was among the 2,800 persons on file in the case.

However, Lawrence G. Waldt, county public safety director, said Friday Bundy's arrest in Utah had stimulated new interest in his activities.

Miss DaRonch and witnesses to the incident picked Bundy from a police line-up.

The mall incident involved a man pretending to be a policeman who put handcuffs on Miss DaRonch and drove off with her. Although the handcuffs used were of an unusual type, a key fitting them was found at the site of the apparent abduction of Debra Kent, 17. No trace of Miss Kent has been found.

Salt Lake police said last year they believed her disappearance may have been connected to the disappearances of two other Salt Lake area women, Melissa Smith and Laura Aime, both 17. The two young women were found dead shortly after their disappearances.

Bundy was graduated from the University of Washington in 1972 with a bachelor's degree in psychology. He worked in the 1972 re-election campaign of Gov. Dan Evans and later worked for the Washington State Republican Central Committee.

Theodore Bundy

In 1973, he entered law school at the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma. He left the school in April, 1974, before examinations, a school spokeswoman said.

In the summer of 1974, he worked at the Department of Emergency Services in Olympia.

Two persons who worked with him at that time said he had a "cultured way" of speaking which might sound Canadian or British to some. A witness approached by the "Ted" sought by local police said he had what she thought was a British accent. Her remark led to an extension of the search to Canada, Australia and other parts of the British Commonwealth.

His former Seattle landlady, Mrs. Frieda Roger, said he rented a room from her in Seattle's University District for "at least four years" until August, 1974, when he moved to Salt Lake to begin his first year of law school at the University of Utah.

Bundy's mother, Mrs. John C. Bundy of Tacoma, said he spent this summer working in Salt Lake and attending summer school. He began his second year of law school this fall.

Mackie said Bundy was among the thousands of persons investigated in connection with the 1974 slayings. He declined to say to what extent Bundy was investigated. However, he said the local task force on the "Ted" case was contacted by a person who believed Bundy resembled the composite drawing created from descriptions by witnesses.

Mackie said Bundy had not been completely eliminated as a suspect. "On the other hand," he said, "if we really felt he was 'Ted' we would have charged him."

Mackie said the media have been making Bundy a prime suspect in the case. He said Bundy is three to four inches taller than the "Ted" described by witnesses in the Seattle area.

Earlier, police said witnesses described "Ted" as being between 5 feet 6 and 5 feet 9.

Ted Bundy is 5 feet 11, Salt Lake authorities say.

And six women interviewed by police in 1974 said Bundy did not resemble the "Ted" who approached them. Mackie said the same witnesses recently were shown other photographs of Bundy. Again, he said, they did not pick him out.

However, Salt Lake County Sheriff's Capt. Pete Hayward said Friday that Bundy was arrested Aug. 16 for possession of burglary tools and evading an officer. He said misdemeanor charges led Utah police to consider Bundy as a suspect in the abduction case.

A set of burglary tools, a ski mask and a pair of panty hose with eye and nose holes cut in them were found in his brown Volkswagen at the time of his arrest, Hayward said.

Bundy has obtained a lawyer and made a brief courtroom appearance Friday. A motion to reduce bail from $100,000 was scheduled, but it was withdrawn. Bundy, whose hair had been cut short, was returned to jail.

He is scheduled to enter a plea at a hearing scheduled for Oct. 24.

Hayward said men from his department had been sent to Seattle to confer with King County authorities prior to Bundy's arrest.

The Salt Lake law officer said, "Something connected with the misdemeanor charges (in August) led us to regard Bundy as a suspect in the abduction case."

The earlier charges are still pending.

He declined to say what that something was.

Area Where Bundy Lived Scoured 10-10-75 Probe of Missing Women 'Picks Up'

BY LARRY McCARTEN

The probe of missing and murdered women in this area has "picked up" since the arrest in Salt Lake City on Oct. 2 of Theodore R. Bundy, a police official said yesterday.

Detectives yesterday used a metals detector to search the grounds of a house at 4143-12th Ave. NE, where Bundy rented a room from about 1970 through August of 1974, when he left to attend the University of Utah law school in Salt Lake City.

King County Sheriff's Detective Capt. Nick Mackie said through a spokesman that the investigation has "picked up." But he declined to say what detectives were hunting for with the metals detector, which was used around flower beds and lawn areas of the University District home, owned by Mrs. Freida Roger.

The sheriff's spokesman said the deputy prosecuting attorney on the case of the missing and murdered women here had ordered officers not to discuss any aspects of the probe with newsmen "because an investigation is under way."

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Phillip Kileen confirmed that he had issued such a directive. He said he would not comment any further, except to add that "I don't know anything about the Ted Bundy case."

Officers who were at Mrs. Roger's place yesterday morning also checked out storage places, including a garage in back of the house. There was no indication if they found anything.

Mrs. Roger, who has described Bundy as an exceptionally nice person, said she didn't know what the detectives were looking for. She said she had never noticed anything unusual in Bundy's second-floor room, on his person or his auto.

Bundy, former campaign staff worker for Gov. Dan Evans and former aide to State Republican Central Committee Chairman Ross Davis, is in Salt Lake County jail charged with kidnaping and attempted murder in connection with a Utah case in which a man forced a young woman into his car last Nov. 8. She managed to escape.

Bundy's arrest in Salt Lake City raised speculation here about possible links between the Utah and Seattle

NATIONAL ENQUIRER

JUNE 30, 1974

By DONALD HUDSON

A psychic, working only with photo portraits of two missing American girls, helped police locate their seaside graves from his home in Holland more than 4,000 miles away.

Lt. Roy Williams

A map showing a section of Folly Beach, S.C. — drawn by psychic Gerard Croiset Jr. — so impressed local police that they:

- Ordered their own reconnaissance plane into the air to shoot aerial photos of the map area.
- Convinced the U.S. Air Force to send four jets over the area for special infra-red photos.
- Rushed the photos to Holland for further psychic analysis by Croiset.

But while the photos were en route — a suspect led police to the area pinpointed by Croiset where they discovered the girls' bodies. The lawmen, who hadn't even known the girls were dead until then, said Croiset "helped solve the mystery" and declared themselves "flabbergasted" at his uncanny accuracy.

Croiset entered the case in response to a desperate plea for help from one of the girls' mothers.

She had read that psychic Gerard Croiset Sr. had helped locate clues to murders and other mysteries.

Learning that he was ill but that his son was supposed to possess similar psychic powers, she wrote to Gerard Croiset Jr.

He replied from Enschede, Holland, with the map of Folly Beach, a place he has never visited.

The map, police said, was accurate down to such small details as a bus stop and a parked bulldozer.

Before receiving Croiset's help, "we had no hopes and no information at all," confessed Lt. Ray Williams, chief of the Charleston County

Psychic Pinpoints Missing Girls' Graves — From 4,000 Miles Away ... Using Only Their Photographs

Police Dept. juvenile division, who had headed a futile, 11-month search for the girls.

"Then we received Mr. Croiset's detailed information about where the girls would be found," said Lt. Williams. "Its accuracy was incredible. I was flabbergasted."

"Knowing what Croiset told us helped us move forward and clinch the case. It helped us solve the mystery."

Williams declined to reveal details, noting that the suspect in the case has not yet been brought to trial.

The mystery started when Alexis Ann Latimer, 13, and her friend Sherri Jan Clark, 14, both of Charleston, disappeared without trace after going for a walk on Folly Beach last May 23, at about 7:30 p.m.

Exhaustive search by Lt. Williams' force turned up no clues.

In November, Alexis' mother, Mrs. Mary Latimer, 32, turned to the Dutch psychic, Gerard Croiset Jr., "as a last resort."

He replied with his sketch and 1½ pages of comment, which Mrs. Latimer turned over to the police.

Chief Paul Hartline of the Charleston County Police Dept., told THE ENQUIRER: "I was impressed with Croiset's information."

"We sent up a plane to take photos of the area, which we thought might help him give us more clues."

At the same time, four Air Force reconnaissance planes took infra-red photos, which were also sent to Croiset.

the police picked up a man on another matter and "a thread of information" about the missing girls emerged, said Lt. Williams.

The girls' bodies were found in shallow graves on the beach.

They had been murdered.

The suspect is expected to go on trial in late June.

"Croiset had written in the note that accompanied the map, 'The girls will be there — they will be together,'" said Lt. Williams.

"That is correct. They were found together. I'm still amazed."

ROMANCE: Monique Van Vooren kisses ballet dancer Rudolf Nureyev under the watchful eye of pop artist Andy Warhol.

Revealed — The Mystery Blonde in Rudolf Nureyev's Life

"Often people wonder who Rudolf Nureyev's mysterious blonde companion is — well, the mystery blonde is always me!" admits Monique Van Vooren, who confesses she's passionately in love with ballet dancer Nureyev.

The Belgian-born actress confided: "I love Rudolf — I see him everywhere. I speak to him every day on the telephone, wherever I am."

"I love him for his dignity, his virility, his forcefulness, his strength, his art and his beauty."

"We have never tried to hide our relationship, but neither have we tried to publicize it. Rudolf is a very private person and I am not."

"He will not talk about our relationship," she said.

Later, asked by The ENQUIRER about his relationship with the statuesque actress, Rudolf archly replied: "It is my pleasure to keep you in sweet suspense."

But when pressed, the handsome Soviet-born dancer admitted: "I have known Monique for years. Our relationship has developed from just an acquaintance to deep friendship. I see her often in New York and often in Italy."

Monique was far more frank: "We live together whenever we can, but marriage would be very difficult for us because he is 99 percent committed to dancing and I am 99 percent committed to acting."

"We have discussed marriage, but we both feel that it is unnecessary for us."

"Our relationship is strong enough to survive without marriage."

The couple's close friends attested to their romance.

Elegant Diane von Furstenberg, a top New York clothier, told The ENQUIRER that the couple are together at every possible moment.

"They are so very close! Just like any other couple in love, they hold hands and stare into each other's eyes."

"There is no doubt how absolutely in love they are."

And pop artist and filmmaker Andy Warhol, another close friend of the pair, said:

"Monique and Rudolf are often together."

"They are very good friends and have been for a long time."

Rudolf, 36, was once a top dancer in Russia. In 1961, he went to Paris with the Leningrad Kirov Ballet Company.

There, the ballet star defected to the West.

"I fell in love with Rudolf the first time I saw him in Paris about 11 years ago," recalled 41-year-old Monique. "I took one look at this boy and I flipped."

Vitamin 'E' Discovery Offers Fast Weight Loss

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E Diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E Diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon & eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) Vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical test, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Top Surgeon Advises Women Over 50 . . .

Stay Active to Avoid Brittle Bone Disease

By STEVE TINNEY

"Get out of your rocking chair and start moving around before it's too late!"

That's the advice a leading orthopedic surgeon is giving women over 50, who face the problem of having brittle, easily broken bones because they're so inactive.

"Frankly, the less you do the weaker you become," said Dr. Hugh T. Morgan. "Immobility is the major cause of bone decalcification and demineralization."

"In other words, the bones become brittle and break easily as a result of extended periods of inactivity. And the best way to prevent that from happening is to get involved in some physical activity."

Dr. Morgan, head of orthopedic surgery at the University of Maryland School of Medicine, said millions of American women over 50 are so inactive, they are suffering from osteoporosis — a breaking down of bone material.

"Some men in this age group suffer from osteoporosis," Dr. Morgan said. "But the highest incidence is among women."

"Most men stay active after 50, but that's usually not true for women over 50."

"Now with the increase of two-car families, women have a car at their disposal when they need it, so rather than walk or ride a bike, they hop in the car."

The first signs of osteoporosis usually appear in the spine, according to Dr. Morgan.

"Women begin to complain about back pains," he said, "and X rays show the vertebrae have softened and are beginning to compress, causing the pain."

Dr. Morgan recognized that menopause in the female plays a role in osteoporosis, but emphasized that it's not the main cause.

"I'm convinced inactivity is far and away the major cause of bone damage in women over 50," he said. "To maintain a healthy heart and skeletal system, there must be sensible exertion."

"Try swimming," he said. "Or bicycling, shuffleboard, bowling, or any other form of sensible exercise or physical exertion."

"But don't begin excessive heart-straining exercises or jogging."

"These can be harmful to your otherwise general good health."

700 Law Officers Killed in Seven Years

Seven hundred law enforcement officers have been killed by various types of weapons in the United States and Puerto Rico during the past 7 years, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The bureau said in its April 1974 "Law Enforcement Bulletin" that firearms accounted for 665, or 95 percent, of the total deaths. Handguns were used in 502 killings, or almost 72 percent of the total.

Police slayings rose from 76 in 1967 to 131 in 1973.

Within the last 10 years, the rate of forcible rape has increased more alarmingly than any other index crime in Seattle (figure 1). Reported rapes increased from 66 in 1963 to 278 in 1972, which represented an enormous jump of more than 420%. This increase in reported rape prompted considerable concern and served to stimulate an analysis of 1972 rape offenses, victims and offenders.

A sample of 190 (73%) of the "founded" rape offenses for 1972 were examined. The analysis which follows is based upon that examination and reports supplied by the Seattle Police Department.

Time: According to the national Uniform Crime Reports, forcible rape is most prevalent from May - October, reaching its peak in October. Although this same pattern is generally true in Seattle, it is very weak. When the frequency is broken down by months, July and October emerge as the months with the greatest number of reported rapes. Similarly, the May - October "critical period" identified in the Uniform Crime Reports accounted for only 53.5% of the reported rapes and represents almost no pattern at all. (Table 1).

Table 1. Reported forcible rape by month (SPD, 1972)

MONTH	NUMBER	MONTH	NUMBER
January	13	July	33
February	22	August	26
March	22	September	25
April	18	October	33
May	25	November	29
June	25	December	25

The sample analysis indicated time of day and day of week were much more important indicators of risk. Saturday was the peak day for this offense, particularly between the hours of 8:00 p.m. and 2:00 a.m. This six-hour interval accounted for 50% of the reported rapes (Table 2).

Place: In 1972, the location of forcible rapes tended to concentrate in four major areas of the City (figure 2). Almost 20% of all reported rapes occurred in a cluster of five census tracts spanning Capitol Hill. High frequencies of rape were also noted in the University District, the north tip of West Seattle and the Mount Baker area.

Most rapes occurred in private residences (64%); usually the home of the victim. Only 17% of the rapes occurred in parks or on streets, 13% in automobiles and 4% in commercial establishments such as roller rinks, taverns, etc.

Method: More than 85% of all rapes were accompanied by verbal threats, physical force or use of a weapon. The use or threat of a weapon was present in 27% of all cases. Injuries in the form of gunshot wounds, stabbings, lacerations and burns were noted in 21% of all reports. Injuries were noted in 30% of the 51 rapes which involved acquaintances/friends/relatives, while only 17% of the stranger-to-stranger offenses resulted in injury.

Although most rapes were solo occurrences, more than one suspect was noted in 10% of the offenses. In most cases which involved multiple suspects, one primary offender committed rape while one or more secondary suspects merely observed or subdued the victim. Conversely, one suspect raped more than one victim in 5% of all reports (particularly in cases which involved two or more women who accepted rides from a stranger).

Only 5% of the rapes coincided with other felonies such as burglary or robbery. In 27% of the rapes, the offender and the victim were acquainted (14%), friends (10%), or relatives (3%). Similar to the pattern with other crimes against persons, acquaintances and friends committed brutal rapes more frequently than strangers. Stranger-to-stranger street rapes (17%) and hitch-hike rapes (10%) were seldom accompanied by brutality.

OFFENDER

According to Goldner (1972), national statistics show that 18-year-olds commit the greatest number of rapes; 19-year-olds follow closely as principal offenders. The offender ages gradually decrease over 5-year intervals and is extremely rare beyond age 40.

The "youthfulness" indicated by Goldner was not observed in the offense sample. Although 20% of the offenders were described as less than 20 years old, most victims reported that the suspect(s) was in his mid-20's (\bar{X} = 24.5 years old) or early 30's. Less than 5% of the suspects were described as more than 40 years old.

Analysis of the 1972 offense reports indicates that the rapist population was composed almost entirely of whites and blacks, with the latter in greater proportion than the former.* Black suspects exceeded white suspects in absolute numbers as well as in terms of their proportion in the general population (Table 3). The percentage of black suspects was nearly seven times greater than their proportion in the Seattle population. (Despite the high percentage of black suspects, more than half of all rapes were intra-racial).

Table No. 3. Rape Suspects by Race

RACE	NUMBER	PERCENT
Black	143	66%
White	69	32%
Amer-Ind	2	.9%
Mex-Amer	1	.5%

We were able to examine 14 of the 19 arrest reports for 1972 to determine any additional offender characteristics. The numbers are so small that generalizations are difficult and must be viewed

* Goldner, Norman (1972) reports that other national studies indicate that white males commit rape in greater absolute numbers than black males.

 5 records were unavailable.

VICTIM

Victim characteristic information is very scanty. According to the sample offenses analyzed, rape victims tended to be very young, white, and frequently known to the offender. The summary findings are described below:

RACE	NUMBER	PERCENTAGE
White	154	78%
Black	36	18%
Eskimo	6	3%
Amer. Ind.	3	1.5%
Puerto Rican	1	.5%

20-24	60	30%	71%
25-29	32	16%	87%
30+	24	12%	99%

The concept of victim precipitation or provocation was too subjective to analyze. To avoid or minimize controversy, various "high risk" situations were separated and are discussed by category.

Hitch/Accept Offer of Ride: The offense reports indicated that 20 victims (10%) had willingly accompanied the suspect or requested a ride. In most cases, the rape occurred in the vehicle.

Temporary/Permanent Co-habitation: Eighteen victims (9%) willingly shared a residence with the suspect on a permanent or temporary basis, i.e., shared house, apartment, motel or hotel room. In approximately one-half of the cases, the victim and suspect experienced voluntary intercourse on previous occasions.

with some suspicion. However, the summary findings are described below:

RACE	NUMBER	PERCENT
Black	9	64%
White	4	28%
Eskimo	1	7%

AGE	NUMBER	PERCENT
15-19	2	14%

RELATIONSHIP TO VICTIM	NUMBER	PERCENT
Stranger	7	50%
Acquaintance	1	7%
Friend	3	21%
Relative	3	21%

Perhaps the most startling finding associated with offender profiles was the history of previous arrests. Thirteen of the 14 persons had previous felony arrests which included 15 assaults, 7 robberies, 4 burglaries, 3 drug offenses, 7 morals arrests, and 9 previous rape arrests.

Most arrests resulted from a victim complaint and identification of the suspect (42%). The police apprehended one suspect at the scene (7%), and successfully investigated and apprehended 6 other suspects (42%). One suspect surrendered himself to the authorities (7%).

Drug or Alcohol Involvement: Twenty-two victims (11%) had been drinking or using drugs with the suspect prior to the rape. In most instances, the victim and suspect met in a tavern or bar and retired to a private residence in which the rape occurred.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM RESPONSE*

The ability to follow particular offenders through the criminal justice system is almost an impossible task. The State of Washington has no central information agency which is capable of monitoring arrests, charges, and court dispositions across jurisdictions. As a result, each jurisdiction is responsible for its own records and those records are seldom accessible or useful to curious investigators.

The analysis which follows is a very shaky offender flow chart for persons arrested for rape in Seattle (1971). Since no criminal justice agency other than the Seattle Police Department maintains records by crime type, the information is incomplete (figure 3).

In 1971, there were 208 reported rapes. The police cleared 106 cases (51%) within the year. Offenses were cleared when they were no longer under investigation, i.e., suspects were arrested, the victims or prosecutor refused prosecution, the cases were unfounded, modus operandi tied particular offenses to identified offenders, etc.

In the same period, 48 persons were arrested for suspicion of rape. However, only 12 of these 48 persons were charged with the same offense. The other 36 persons were charged with aggravated assault (7), burglary (3), non-aggravated assault (2), carnal knowledge (2), miscellaneous sex offenses, disorderly conduct, soliciting prostitution (1) and suspicion (11). Simultaneously, 4 persons arrested for robbery were subsequently charged with rape.

* Information based upon 1971 Seattle Police Annual Report. Information for 1972 not available.

By the end of 1971, only seven rape cases were disposed, including three cases which were held over from the previous year. Of the seven defendants in those cases, two were found not guilty or dismissed, one was referred to juvenile court, two were placed on probation and two were sentenced to jail or prison. Thus, less than one-half dozen persons were processed through the entire system as rape offenders. This is an incredibly low rate which must reflect a combination of victim reticence or fear, unsystematic processing of offenders by criminal justice authorities and plea bargaining on the part of defendants.

PRELIMINARY RECOMMENDATIONS FOR REDUCTION OF RAPE

The number of reported rapes has continued to climb substantially in recent years, both in the city of Seattle and across the nation. There are some who believe that there are no more rapes occurring, but that women are more willing to report the offenses today than they were a few years ago. Others believe that the number of rapes which occur is increasing. Whether the rape problem is growing or whether it is simply becoming more evident to us, it is important that something be done to decrease the level of rape and the level of fear which the potential of that crime generates.

A task force of persons involved in work with rape victims and those involved in apprehension and prosecution of offenders has concluded that the most important step to control and reduce this crime is to increase the number of successful prosecutions. This approach is agreed upon for two reasons. First, it is believed that many rapists are multiple rapists. Thus, they will continue to rape until they are caught and prosecuted. Second, a number of the rape offenders do not seem to be "sick people", but individuals who believe that they can exert their will over others with impunity. In both instances, it is important to make offenders aware that they have a high probability of being caught for this crime, and if found guilty, that the offense will be treated as a serious one.

In examining the possible methods to increase successful prosecutions, the task force recommended that the focus should be on methods to increase victim cooperation and improve the quality of the evidence.

Because this crime involves a personal assault, there is a greater chance than usual that the victim will have sufficient knowledge to be able to help identify the assailant. Furthermore, in many rape cases, the victim has had some prior contact with the offender. The evidence which indicates that a rape has occurred usually comes from an examination of the victim. The sooner after the incident, the more likely that there will be conclusive evidence of the rape having occurred. The victim must also be prepared to identify the offender and to testify in the case. Therefore, the single most essential ingredient in a rape case is having a cooperative victim.

The task force also concluded that there were a number of reasons why victims of rape were reluctant to cooperate in the apprehension and prosecution of offenders. They include the following: (1) a desire to keep anyone from knowing that the rape occurred; (2) fear of retaliation from the offender; (3) mixed feelings about involving the offender in the criminal process; (4) feeling that the criminal justice system doesn't really care; (5) emotional strain of the prosecution and unwillingness to become the "person on trial".

The recommendations for overcoming victim reluctance to cooperate are inter-related, and thus should be taken together. However, they will be described individually so that all of the elements of the recommendations can be fully discussed.

Recommendation 1: That model procedures for the handling of rape be developed from the time of the initial report of the case through the courtroom trial.

Model procedures are to be developed in such a way as to make the process as easy as possible for the victim, while still protecting the Constitutional rights of the defendant, and to increase the quality of the evidence available to the police investigators and to the prosecution. The procedures would be developed by identifying how rape cases are now handled at every stage of the process. Those procedures would be carefully examined to see whether changes could be made which would ease the strain for the victim, improve the evidence available for investigation and prosecution, and increase the number of successful investigations and successful prosecutions. Specialized consultant assistance would be sought for each stage of the proceedings to help identify alternative procedures which might better accomplish our objectives. The procedures would be reviewed by a task force representing all the parts of the system, and those procedures effecting any single agency would be referred to them for review and recommendation. The final recommended model procedures would be in the form of recommendations to the appropriate legislative bodies and agencies.

Recommendation 2: That an expanded capability be developed at Harborview Medical Center for receiving, assisting and obtaining evidence from rape victims.

Harborview would become identified as the principal place to go for assistance if you have been the victim of a rape. The service there would be developed to be especially sensitive to the emotional requirements of the victim and the legal requirements of the criminal justice process. The emergency room physicians would be trained in specific medical techniques for handling rape cases, and would be sensitized to the needs of the victim under conditions of emotional stress. There would also be social workers who are available to the emergency room to immediately relate to the rape victim and assist them through medical and follow-up services. The hospital would also have a capability to provide counseling for individuals or for groups to assist them in dealing with the problems often created by rape incidents. Harborview would also work with other medical facilities to gain their cooperation in a common set of medical practices for rape cases. If accomplished, this should increase the general quality of the evidence collected from medical examinations in rape cases. We would also encourage those medical facilities to refer people to Harborview if they needed follow-up assistance.

Recommendation 3: The expansion of the Rape Relief advocacy service for rape victims. (University YWCA)

Many women who are victims of rape need someone to help guide them in their decision about what course to take, and if they decide to report the crime and prosecute, someone to help them through the process. The advocacy service is intended to provide this kind of support for a victim of rape. The advocate would accompany the victim through every stage of the medical and criminal justice procedure to make it as easy as possible for the rape victim, and to assure that appropriate procedures are followed. It is hoped that this kind of assistance would encourage more women to be willing to report the crime and to prosecute the offender. The advocates, who are knowledgeable of the process, could also give assistance to the agency personnel as they try to deal with the rape case.

Recommendation 4: That there be established a third party reporting service.

Some women who have been raped are willing to report the offense, but are not willing to prosecute for any one of several reasons. However, the information which they have about the assailant may be of assistance if that assailant has committed other rapes. If there is a rape victim who is willing to prosecute, who apparently was raped by the same assailant, the additional information provided by the victim who is not willing to prosecute may be helpful in identifying the assailant and gathering evidence for prosecution. This would be a small effort designed to see how many women are in that position and how useful the kind of information that they would provide is in apprehending offenders.

Recommendation 5: That there be undertaken an extensive education program to make known to victims of rape those services which have been described.

In addition, this program would provide information to help prevent rapes, and to encourage women who have been raped to report the incident. An education program would have several purposes. First, it is important to convince the victims of rape that the reporting of the crime and the prosecution of the offender is very important for the safety of other persons. Second, to make known to victims of rape that there is a sensitive and helpful system to respond to their problem. Third, to communicate to women how to reduce the risk of rape and what to do if confronted with the possibility of such an assault. Fourth, to communicate to the general public the importance of increased intolerance for sexual assaults. There is a lack of public discussion about this issue and a lack of clarity about the kind of behavior that the society will and will not tolerate in these instances. This kind of educational campaign might discourage some potential offenders from committing assaults, and might increase the willingness of judges and jurors to take a more serious view of these types of cases.

CHECKED PRINTS AGAINST FORTHY
NEG RESULTS - 1-5-77

Paul - EBlin.

Looked into the Trumbull - Wick: Red thing.

Its case # 66-18450 Evid # 12332.

There are (or were) latent prints and photo of same in evidence. There's also one palm print. The fingerprints are tip areas, rather small in area & of the area beyond that normally rolled.

Look in folder #5 of the case. I've tabbed in yellow some things that may interest you. The file starts at the bottom of the folder.

Item #18 of Reed's FU states: 2 latent FPS +
4 Polaroid films of prints.

Sprader & Mayson's FU state "Red" has been in the court most of his time - lives next door. I believe the guy turned out to be middle-aged but didn't take time to to look thru the whole file to verify that recollection.

2

Shader & Grayson's FC, item #1, refers to a grocery store clerk where the victim bought groceries.

Related to this is my follow-up titled "Search for grocery boy" in which I I.D. one grocery boy as being the one referred to by the victim's friends but didn't finish up the search & I.D. all possible.

Also related is my follow-up, item #5, in which Jonnie's sister tells about a grocery boy who tried to date her, she snubbed him. This one would be the one I I.D'd in my late FC.

It looks like all "grocery boys" referred to were involved with the gold when they lived in the area of the Nettleton apts.
That's the way our thinking went at that time - we weren't thinking along any local grocery connections.

I still say Mike Boylan did it!
Set me know what you come up with.

Note one FV states latent prints were retained in Ernie Jensen's latent FP file.

I could be way off the bat on what I'm disclosing here but I've had a hunch since last summer and it won't leave my mind.

I met "Corey" Garfield last summer while he was looking for a place to rent on San Juan Island. He said his real name was Ted but because of the killer loose in Seattle, he changed it to Corey. This comment started my thinking about the similarities between Corey and the Ted described in the paper. Corey has a VW van, mostly blue but with a huge front left side that has been bashed in. I don't know the year. He is a tall, dark man with rather strange eyes; I don't know the description of Ted. Corey has an ex-wife on or near Lake Sammamish (I think he said she was oriental and they had one child together). That places him in one murder site. He has been a student in the music department at Evergreen College which places him at another murder site. His specialty is african primitive music and he studies on his own away from campus. He has been living in the U. district - I show two addresses: residence: 805 N.E. Northlake Way

632-7010

Sacred Cow

Multi-Media Specialists - 4110 12th Ave N.E. #10
(he was working on an eagle cartoon) Seattle Wn 98105
633-4560

Mail: P.O. Box 5360

University Station Seattle 98105

I don't know if either are still his addresses but they place him in another murder site.

He rented a geodesic dome on Eagle Crest on San Juan Island but he did not winter in it. He has been up a few week-ends only.

As I say, this may be way off the bat. I'm nervous about this disclosure as I picked up strange feelings from him and really don't want him to find out I wrote this. I'm not signing my name because of this unbusiness but if you need to reach me me put an ad in the Friday Harbor Journal personal column saying something like:

Shep come home and a phone number or name to contact.

I hope this is of use to you.

DETAILS OF INVESTIGATION

I had just come 10-24 from Case 10180 when I was informed by Officer Hoffman that there had been a kidnapping, that victim was presently in our office. I was given a description of the suspect vehicle by Officer Hoffman that the vehicle was last seen in the area of McMillan School which is 5900 South 300 East. I then proceeded to this area and started checking the area. I asked dispatcher to have Officer Peterson who was in the office get a description of the suspect and vehicle and put it out to our officers and all other agencies as quickly as possible. Myself and Officer Hoffman checked the area for a few minutes. I then came into our office where I talked to the victim, Caro DaRonch. In talking to the victim she stated approx. 7:00 p.m. this date she went to Fashion Place Mall and parked her vehicle on the west side of Sears, walked into Sears. This being through southwest doors. She then proceeded into the mall through Sears, walked down towards Castletons and down towards Auerbachs. While in the mall she stopped and talked to some cousins for a few minutes. She then turned around and was proceeding back when she was approached by suspect near Wallen's book store. At this time she had been in the mall approx. 10 to 15 minutes. Suspect approached victim and asked her she had a car in the parking lot on the west side of Sears. She told him yes. He then asked her for her license number. At this time she told him. He then told her that he was a police officer and a suspect had been caught breaking into her car with a pry wire and that he wanted her to accompany him back to her vehicle to see if anything was missing, also to see if she could identify the suspect. The victim walked back through the mall into Sears and out the Sears doors into the parking lot with suspect. At this time she checked her vehicle by unlocking drivers side and looking in and could see that everything appeared to be O.K. There was no damage to her vehicle. Nothing missing. At this time suspect asked her to open up the passenger side door, that he wanted to check inside. She told him no, it would not be necessary, she could see that everything was there, however, suspect did, she believes, touch the door handle and try and open the vehicle. At this time suspect stated that he would like her to accompany him to the other side of the mall where he believed the car prowler suspect would be located, that she could identify him and sign a complaint. At this time she proceeded with suspect back through Sears and out into the east parking lot. Suspect looked around, stated that the burglary suspect must have been taken to Murray Police sub-station. At this time he asked victim to accompany him to the Murray Police sub-station. They then walked through the parking lot, went back into the mall through the main door on the east side of the parking lot, just north of Castletons. Proceeded through the mall. Proceeded out into the mall parking lot on the north side to the entrance by Farrell's ice cream, walked across the mall parking lot and across 6100 South to a laundromat which is on the north side of 6100 South, address of the laundromat is 139 East 6100 South. At this time suspect told victim that this was the Murray sub-station at the mall and he believed the burglary suspect would be located there and she could sign a complaint. He the door. This door is on the southeast corner of the laundromat. Appears to be a door to a maintenance room. Has the number 139 just above the door. The door was locked. The suspect did touch this door.. Detective Riet later tried to obtain prints with negative results. At this time suspect told victim that they would have to go to the main Murray Police Department and she accompanied him to his vehicle which was parked on the north side of 6100 South facing west, approx. 100 ft. east of the Lockhart Company. While enroute to the supposed Murray Police substation, victim asked suspect for some identification. She had asked him once before in the mall. He had just kind of laughed. When walking over she did look at a wallet badge which he produced. Badges described similar to Murray Police in shape. This was a miniature size badge, approx. half the size of our wallet badge. It appeared to be of solid gold. The victim cannot remember any engravings, or names or designs on the badge. She later picked out a similar type badge, out of the George F. Calk Company book for Detective Riet. See his supplement report. After trying the door of the laundromat, both parties then walked to suspect's vehicle. Suspect opened the door and let the victim in. Suspect then got into driver's seat, on his seat belt, told victim to be sure and put on her seat belt that it made him nervous if people didn't when he was driving. At this time she said no, she would not. He also made sure that she locked her door. He then made a turn and proceeded up 6100 South to 300 East where he made a left turn and then proceeded north on 300 East to the area of approx. 5800 South on 300 East.

in front of McMillan School. Suspect then pulled his vehicle over. This would be on the east side of the road. The assault that then took place occurred approx. 25 paces from the northwest corner of McMillan School/ Occurred in the vehicle which was parked along the sidewalk in the gutter on 300 East. Location of assault was determined later by finding victim's shoe laying in the gutter at this location. Victim stated that while in the vehicle she could smell the odor of alcoholic beverage about the suspect. As suspect, pulled up and parked the vehicle the victim tried to get out at which time suspect reached over and grabbed her, started a scuffle. Suspect got out a pair of handcuffs, grabbed her by the right wrist, put the handcuffs on her right wrist. At this time she started fighting. The suspect was trying to handcuff both hands, however, ended up putting both handcuffs on the right wrist. Victim kept fighting with suspect. At this time suspect reached into his coat pocket, pulled out a pistol which was described above, pointing the pistol at victim and told her if she did not stop struggling he would shoot her. At this time she struggled harder. Got the door open and managed to get outside. At this time suspect also got out of the vehicle and approached her. At this time he picked up a crow bar, had the crow bar in his left hand and was raising it as though to strike, at this time victim grabbed a hold of crow bar and started pushing and shoving with suspect. Victim believed that she scratched suspect, probably on either the hands or arms, that she did not see some blood on her hands that must have come from suspect, that she was not injured herself. However, does not remember actually hurting the suspect. Victim struggled with suspect, finally breaking and running and running out in the middle of the road where she flagged down witnesses which were described above who brought her to our office. Witnesses did not remember seeing anybody else in the area. Victim came to our office where Officer Peterson removed handcuffs from her wrist. Stated both handcuffs were in place when victim arrived. In talking to victim, she states she believes she could identify suspect if she saw him again, that she spent approx. 20 to 30 minutes with him in the mall and walking through the parking lot and in the vehicle. Victim taped a report which will be included as a supplement of this report. Victim last saw suspect going eastbound on 5900 South. Victim believes that her purse was still in the suspect's car. I later returned to the area with victim where we did locate her shoe in the gutter described in the above report. Victim states that suspect did not make any sexual advances toward her, did not indicate to her any of his intentions. Also stated that had no unusual features and had no accent. The voice, nothing unusual about his voice. Suspect did identify himself as a Murray Police Officer. Victim was questioned by Detective Joel Riet - See his supplement report. Also was shown pictures from the sex transcript with negative results. Detective Riet will do a follow up. A search of the area of McMillan School on 5900 South was done by all officers and Reserve Officers on foot, looking for possible other evidence or victim's purse with negative results. Victim's father was going to talk to cousins.

JULY 3, 1974

Seattle Police Dept.
Seattle, Washington

Dear Sirs;

The level of paranoia around this campus among young women is really beginning to get to me. I am a woman myself, 22 years old and a U.W. student. Last night two women about my age came to our door and told of a house they had just visited. They were out knocking on doors around 7:00pm looking for rooms to rent, and went to a large house at the corner of 17th NE and 55th NE. N the SW corner, knocked on the door and asked the man (\approx 50 yrs., brown & gray hair, medium height, spaced out) if he had any rooms.

In the first place, I know this to be a residential occupancy; I know the two young (Jr. High & High School age) boys that are the sons in this house. Anyway, the man asked them in (both girls, very nicely dressed and also U.W. students, said he was obviously spaced; drunk or stoned or something). He was very suggestive to them, took down one of the girls name and number, and asked her "How's Friday?" She said "What?" and he replied "How's Friday? I should have a room by then. In the basement. Come early and maybe we can have some oyster stew." She didn't know what to say, so she asked the price of the room. He asked how much she wanted to pay, and she said she couldn't go over $55.00. He said "$55 it is, then." This was strange, but then he went on to say that "A strange thing happened to me today. A couple came by and asked me if I had a dog." One girl replied that "that isn't so strange.", and he said "Yes it is, you know with those two girls and all; there's one person doing this, you know." I think something is missed in this translation here, but both girls were very shaken by this man. As they were leaving, one girl asked; "what do you do?" he said "I rent rooms." She said "No, what do you do for a living?", and he replied "I guess you could just say I'm mad."

So, I realize that this is very little to go on, but every bit counts. I haven't seen the kids around, nor their dog; and the rabbits they raise in the back yard are gone. This may be perfectly explainable, and chances are it is, but it's something to watch for. I will be watching the house, as well as the other members of my house.

I watched the news last night and saw the 19-36-19-36 pattern of the 5 kidnappings, and started counting on my fingers as to when the next one would be if the ^{two} pattern is more than coincidence. As a result, I had difficulty sleeping last night, and have felt wary all day. There are still people around here (The District) that don't know what is going on. Perhaps it would be wise to ask the local networks to warn the women, and advise them to not go out alone, and generally be careful. It couldn't do any harm!

I am sorry about remaining anonymous in this "tip", I hope you can understand our position. The only thing I can say about the dialogue between the girls and the man, is that they were both scared from the experience, and seemed like genuinely fair individuals. I realize that much is lost in this second translation.

Sincerely,
a frightened U.W. student.

I forgot to add that about 2 months ago, I got my first glimpse of the father in this house (possibly the same man). He came running out of the house around midmorning one Saturday, and ran to a car & got in. The mother (I know her to be the "lady of the house") ran out and the lawn yelling. They exchanged loud words, and he drove off. Possibly not that unusual, but another bit of info.
